NRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW Hushed is the voice that o'ex the wide Atlantic. Oft reached our ears in thythmic waves of song, Now gently wise, now tonderly remarkie,

Now practical and strong. Hushod is the voice! In silence now the singer Sinks, full of years and honour, to his rest; Blowswiftly, winds, from Britain's shores, and wing her Condolence to the West.

He was half ours. From veins of Yorkshire yeomen Surang the brave blood that made his song so brave, Albeit so tender, piercing freedom's formen. And striking for the slave.

Mid that new world of trade and loss and profit Where time and men and money all go fast, Slowly he moved-was in it, yet not of it, But rather of the Past.

Old song, old legend, wore their charm around him; Chines from old belfries in his our were rung; And modern manners mediaval found him, As were the men he sung.

Mid present scenes still by past memories haunted, Cambridge God's Acre leved he passing well; Theree would be turn to grapple with, undaunted, Legends the Rabbins tell.

· By weight of years Time laid upon his bead, Rocking him softly to his rest, and tended By hands his bands had led. Even as the Rhine, whose grape in youth he tasted,

Richer in famo becomes from ruins round

So honce he passes, broken scarce nor bended

And, with no ripple of its waters wasted, At last in ocean's drowned So was the poet's life. Through old tradition Passing, and plucking thence its fruits sublime,

Walked he full-handed until lost to vision -

A correspondent of Nature says :- Some little time ago Miss Frances Power Cobbe, who has so identified herself with the cause of anti-vivisection, called on a distinguished man of science to endeavour, by persuasive speech and viva-voce argument, to gain him over to her cause. Three points were observable in Miss Cobbe's outward presentment, viz., she had an ostrich feather in ber bonnet; a bird of paradise in, on, or near her muff; and she carried an ivory-handled umbrella. Consequently, the distinguished man of science replied as follows:- "Madam, charity be- beral party than the loyalty with which it has gins at home. Although the name of Joseph Livesey is, as we have seen, so inseparably and conspicuously associated with the Temperance movement, it would be a great mistake to think or speak of him in any sense as a man long residence in Preston he has filled many important public offices, and was a member of the first Town Council elected under the Municipal Reform Bill. As long ago as 1845, he began to organise an annual trip by railway to Southport, Blackpool, or some other sea-side resort, by which "the halt the lame, and the blind," the scavengers, the sweeps, and the workhouse people," were taken from their unpleasant surroundings to Gyldenkrone," his Majesty replied, "we ere breathe a purer air for a few hours. Soon after his marriage, assisted by his wife, he took part in teaching others less educated than himself, and 1825 he hired a large froom in Shepherdstreet, Preston, where he started a free Sunday school, "for youth of both sexes from fourteen to twenty-one years of age." Upon all these, and many other-useful-labours, can now look back peacefully, as he spends his closing days in the town which knows no name more sincerely venerated than that of Joseph Livesey.—Caseell's Magazine.

> MOUNTAINEERING IN NEW ZEALAND.

It has been left to an American subject to e the first man other than a Maori scale the precipices and examine the crater of Tongariro. It is satisfactory, in the interests of science and exploration, to learn that Herr Emil Boss, accompanied by several members of the English Alpine Club, has reached Melbourne en route for New Zealand, where they propose to attempt the ascent of all the principal peaks, and to explore the giant glaciers surrounding Mount Cook. They are attended by Kauffman, a well-known Swissguide, and as their leader has ascended all the great peaks at Switzerland, and also visited the Andes and Himalayas, he may be considered to have ample experience to qualify him for the task before him. After finishing their work in New Zealand the party propose to visit New Guinea for the purpose of exploration, included in which is probably an ascent of the famous Mount Owen Stanley. We heartily wish them success, and look forward to interesting narratives of their adventures and discoveries .---The Colonies and India.
